Subject: Novel Coronavirus Effect on Product Delivery

In consideration of the impact and potential danger associated with the spread of the Novel Coronavirus, Bridgelux production in China was suspended from February 3, 2020 to February 10, 2020. We are happy to report that the production lines are now back on-line and fully operational. We expect little or no impact to our production lead-times as a result of this extension of the Chinese Lunar New Year shutdown mandated by the China government.

We do expect some minor delays with material transit and customs clearance for a short period of time while officials work through a backlog of activity and labor shortages. Our sales or customer service teams will contact you to inform you of any changes to delivery schedules and will expedite where possible to avoid late delivery. Please accept our sincere apologies for any inconveniences caused by this situation. Please feel free to contact us if you have any additional questions or concerns.
