Corona Virus – Actions in China and Impact on Supply Chain

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

with this letter we would like to inform you about our actions taken regarding the Corona Virus and its impact on our supply chain.

The Weidmüller Asia Logistics Center, located in the WaiGaoQiao Free Trade Zone (Shanghai) and the Weidmüller Production Facility in Suzhou will start operations with reduced capacity on Feb 11, 2020!

Nevertheless, we are currently not able to produce at full capacity due to requirements of the district government and with regard to hygiene regulations. We expect to achieve a full capacity for both organizations at the end of February, depending on the development of the governmental restrictions.

Weidmüller operates a robust and stable supply chain and has initiated immediate countermeasures. This includes to monitor our Chinese suppliers’ situation to keep the supply chain running most effectively, including actions to find alternative logistic routes wherever possible and necessary. Recovery plans in production and logistics are in place to minimize any supply discontinuation. As a part of this our inventories are monitored closely to implement the best possible priorities in our factory.

Finally, we will react to new impacts over the next weeks in an aligned Task Force Team that will initiate prompt measures.

Best regards
