

Dear Valued Customer,

Thank you for your recent request for information on the European Union's restriction of the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment (RoHS) regime.

While Avnet appreciates the importance of the legislation and the impact it has on companies placing certain electrical and electronic products and equipment on the EU market, Avnet's Americas region does not manufacture or import into the EU the products we supply, and we do not control the manufacturing process or chemical content of the product. As a result, we do not provide material declarations.

Requests for certifications of RoHS compliance should be directed to the original component manufacturer. We realize that this places additional reporting requirements on our customers and we therefore encourage our electronic component manufacturers to make this information easily accessible on their websites.
